

U.S. Road Offers To Buy P.G.E. For Alaska Extension

Hon. E. C. Carson, acting premier, disclosed here Thursday evening that American interests have been negotiating to purchase the P.G.E. "for further extension into the Peace River country and Alaska."

Mr. Carson refused to name the American interests or the railroad they represent. To do so, he said, would embarrass the government.

He stated that American capital representing an American railroad had sought during the last two weeks to purchase the P.G.E.

Premier John Hart now in Ottawa he said expected to negotiate with the C.P.R. while in the east and was prepared to grant that company a preference if they were willing to meet the American offer.

Mr. Carson further disclosed that American capital had been trying to buy the P.G.E. for two years.

More Vacancies But Many Unemployed, N.E.S. Office Says

While job vacancies for men continue to climb in Victoria, there are still a considerable number out of work because of the difficulty of "fitting the man to the job," C. A. Mudge, manager of the local office of National Employment Service, said today, in releasing figures showing 724 openings for men and 337 for women.

"Many men are registered with us for clerical work but that field is limited, whereas there is a big demand for construction workers and heavy laborers," Mr. Mudge said.

"Approximately 60 per cent of the men on our files, exclusive of servicemen, are over 50 years of age. If they are clerical workers they are not able to handle heavy laboring jobs."

The problem of fitting the man and the job results in figures showing a number of men unemployed and at the same time unfilled jobs, Mr. Mudge said.

Biggest demand this week, as in weeks past, is for heavy laborers with 172 needed. Next in line is the construction industry requiring 171 men. Others needed are 89 skilled and semi-skilled workers, 79 men in the logging industry, 77 service workers, 68 clerical and sales workers, 40 men for light labor and 28 agricultural workers.

In the women's section, 337 are needed with 136 for service work; 75 for clerical and sales; 50 domestics, 48 unskilled and 28 laundry and dry cleaning workers.

Streetcar Operator Committed For Trial

Bail of $5,000 was set for William DeFane, 29-year-old streetcar operator who was committed for trial by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court today on a charge of manslaughter. The charge arose following the death of 68-year-old Peder Pederson, who was struck by a No. 3 streetcar on Douglas Street near Johnson Street on the night of April 19.

Little Hope Foreign Ministers Will Agree On Any Peace Pacts

PARIS (AP) — High-ranking delegates to the four-power Foreign Ministers' Conference today expressed the opinion that, barring some spectacular and completely unforeseen development, there was little hope any peace treaties would be agreed upon at this session.

The ministers of the United States, Britain, Russia and France were scheduled to meet with Yugoslav officials at Luxembourg Palace today to discuss revision of the Italian-Yugoslav frontier.

Alcide de Gasperi, Italian Premier, was expected to appear before the ministers later in the day. He arrived here Thursday night by plane.

British, United States and French delegates privately stressed that after a week of meetings the ministers appeared

Big Four Make No Progress On Europe's Controversial Issues

Around this circular conference table in the historic Luxembourg Palace in Paris sit the Big Four Foreign Ministers who assembled to draft treaties expected to decide the fate of Europe. At extreme left, foreground facing away from the camera, is Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Minister. Just over his head can be seen V. M. Molotov of the U.S.S.R. Fifth from Molotov's left is James F. Byrnes, U.S. Secretary of State. In extreme right foreground is Georges Bidault of France. Reports from Paris today continued to say no discernible headway had been made on the most contested questions.

Premier Duplessis Quits Conference; Says Position of Quebec Made Clear

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister King this afternoon informed the Dominion-Provincial Conference that Premier Duplessis of Quebec had left the conference discussions and returned to Quebec.

The announcement read by the Prime Minister at the start of the afternoon sitting said the Premier of Quebec had said he felt the position of his province had been made quite clear and that due to the pressure of business he was returning to Quebec.

It was learned that Hon. Johnny Bourque, Quebec Minister of Lands and Forests, was heading the Quebec delegation in the absence of Mr. Duplessis.

Earlier in the day, the conference, after hearing the federal government reiterate its proposals, listened to suggestions from three premiers that the current discussions be adjourned to allow the governments to review their positions.

Premier Drew of Ontario suggested an adjournment to allow the federal government to reconsider its stand. He spoke after Finance Minister Isley had said the Dominion was standing pat on its proposals because acceptance of the Ontario suggestions would cost the Dominion $134,000,000 more than it was prepared to pay for exclusive use of some tax fields.

WOULD AWAIT CALL

Premier Duplessis of Quebec said he could see no point in continuing the discussions on their present basis. He said he was ready to return to Quebec and come back to Ottawa when the federal government was prepared to offer proposals based on the constitution.

Premier Macdonald of Nova Scotia suggested an adjournment until June to allow further study of the Dominion and Ontario proposals. The provinces, because of sessions of the Legislature, had not had much chance to study the proposals during recent months. He suggested to have made no progress whatsoever on controversial issues.

State Secretary Byrnes of the United States told the other ministers his government favored new armistices to stabilize Europe. In view of the fact that peace treaties, even if drafted immediately, could not become effective for some time.

He asked specifically that the Italian armistice be softened, but further consideration of the matter was blocked by British objections. U.S. officials said the Washington government was determined not to budge from its position on this and other controversial matters.

Some sources said the only chance for the conference to succeed would be for V. M. Molotov, Russian Foreign Minister, to make a number of unexpected concessions.

gested ways the Dominion could reduce expenditures.

Premier Drew suggested the Dominion take time to revise its proposals to the Dominion-Provincial Conference "in the light of the positions taken by the provinces" and then call the conference together again to consider a new transitional tax agreement only.

He said that as the only possible course for saving the conference from failure to agree.

U.S. Cruiser Will Bring Maritime Delegates Here

The United States light cruiser Astoria will bring more than 200 delegates to Victoria, June 16, from the International Labor Organization's month-long World Maritime Conference in Seattle.

Howard Costigan of Washington's division of progress, made the announcement here today. He said there would be 43 British delegates to the conference aboard the cruiser. The British delegation would be led by G. R. Strauss, parliamentary secretary to the British Ministry of Labor. G. M. Evans, C.B., deputy secretary of the Ministry of Labor, and Richard Sneddon, general manager of the British Shipping Federation.

Mr. Costigan said the Seattle conference would be the first maritime world meeting since 1930. There would be representatives of 46 nations. Plans for entertainment of the delegates, he said, had followed those made for the United Nations Conference in San Francisco last year.

"It will be a splendid opportunity," he said, "for Victorians to meet representatives of the major maritime powers."

46 NATIONS REPRESENTED

Mr. Costigan said the Seattle conference would be the first maritime world meeting since 1930. There would be representatives of 46 nations. Plans for entertainment of the delegates, he said, had followed those made for the United Nations Conference in San Francisco last year.

Mr. Drew said Finance Minister Isley pointed out Thursday that it was impossible to make a quick decision in the matters of taxation rights before the conference.

His suggestion now was that at the renewed conference only a transitional tax agreement be discussed as a substitute for the wartime tax agreements. The other "extraneous" matters added by the Dominion government could be considered later when the representatives of the 10 governments had proper and full statistics before them.

He placed "the sole responsibility" for any failure of the current conference on "the rigid Dominion position."

The Dominion, Mr. Drew said, greeted with "horror" Ontario proposals which would cost some near $188,000,000 a year, but one of its ministers unexpectedly announced a new burden of $250,000,000 to $300,000,000 that was planned for the taxpayers.

Premier Duplessis indicated he saw no purpose in presently continuing the discussions.

"The door is open, but as it would be undignified to remain on the porch I will be in my office," he said.

At another point, after saying the way was open for the Dominion to make new proposals, he commented: "From Quebec I will expect a call."

Picking up a volume of 1930 House of Commons Hansard, the Quebec Premier proceeded to quote to the conference chairman, Prime Minister King, a statement Mr. King had made on the same matter, saying it was "a vicious principle" to have one body raising taxes and another spending them.

"I agree with you and that is why I cannot accept the proposals," he said.

Builders Seek Full Information On Arena Costs

A strong recommendation that the total cost for the building of the Memorial Arena be ascertained and the taxpayers informed before any tenders for any part of the construction are let, was made today by the Victoria Builders' Exchange to the City Council.

Victor L. Leigh, president of the exchange, in his letter stated "The directors of this exchange are of the opinion that the arena will cost greatly in excess of the amount of money now provided."

The proposal of the arena committee, made a week ago, was that contracts for the construction be let in separate tenders to allow different contractors opportunity of tendering on different portions of the building. Tenders for the foundations, footings and pillars have already been conceded that a further architects are working on specifications for the refrigeration plant.

The arena committee has $215,000 on hand, $65,000 raised by the citizens and $150,000 provided by by-law for construction of the building. Since the money was raised it has been variously estimated that the completed building would cost from $400,000 to $1,000,000 more than this sum.

Members of the City Council have conceded that a further money by-law will have to be put to the people for the extra money but said they would wait until it was known how much more was needed, and in the meantime start the building with the money now on hand.

No Income Tax Cut If Ontario Plan Accepted—Isley

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Isley today told the Dominion-Provincial Conference the Dominion was standing by the proposals placed before the conference by Prime Minister Monday. It could not agree to changes proposed by Ontario.

Mr. Isley reviewing proposals made by Premier George Drew, said the revenue netted to the provinces under the Ontario plan would be greater than they would otherwise receive unless "very high" income and corporation taxes were levied by the provinces.

Payment of full cost of the relief of unemployed employees was "entirely impractical." The Dominion had no close connection with local affairs. Even the Dominion offer to pay relief to the extent of 85 per cent of unemployment insurance benefits amounted to an "open-ended commitment" for which no estimate was possible.

"If we were to accept the proposals (Ontario's), we would have to give up any idea of reducing personal income tax," Mr. Isley said.

"If we are to make a reduction in personal income tax and go some way towards reducing duplication in taxes we will have to stay within the financial limits of the Dominion proposal."

Mr. Isley, replying to a question from Premier Macdonald of Nova Scotia, said that if the Dominion gave up gasoline tax, for instance, the bargain would not have to be the same with all provinces providing there was no financial loss to the Dominion.

This meant the provinces could have exclusive use of that tax field if they agreed to give up part of their subsidy, or if they accepted to forego certain proposed federal grants.

However, the Dominion could not agree to let one province give up gasoline, for instance, and allow another to retain it.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — U.S. marines attacked a cell tier in Alcatraz Island prison with 60-mm. mortars today in an attempt to drive into the open a group of convicts who had killed two guards and then barricaded themselves in a cell block.

Four or five of the mortars were employed in shattering down the rocky cliff near the island's water line, and marines started lobbing the shells through windows into the veritable pillbox the convicts had shaped for themselves.

From nearby Benicia Arsenal the army dispatched a truck, under fast police escort carrying an assortment of heavy weapons for use by Alcatraz federal guards.

From San Quentin State Prison Warden Clinton T. Duffy dispatched 11 experienced guards to the assistance of the embattled guards at Alcatraz.

Twelve guards from the Federal Correctional Institution at Englewood, Colo., left by plane to help put down the bloody riot. Five guards were flying from Leavenworth Prison in Kansas to lend their assistance.

Earlier it was reported the rioting had caused the deaths of two guards and injury to 13 others.

88 MORE LANDED

The Marines landed 88 men on the island, sending in 23 more today to assist beleaguered guards, and a shipment of grenades and "shape charges" as well. The charges, a war device, can demolish concrete structures.

Efforts had been begun early in the day by marines to chop a hole through the roof of the cell block where the convicts, armed from the "Rock's" arsenal and led by six ringleaders, were cornered after a night of bitter fighting in the grim island prison in San Francisco Bay.

A munitions truck from nearby Benicia Arsenal was given a police highway patrol escort to the Bay waterfront. In addition to the shape charges it carried bazooka shells and fragmentation and carbine grenades.

DIED OF WOUNDS

Guard William A. Miller died in a hospital as the new attack was launched this morning to dislodge six of this country's toughest convicts from their stronghold in a prison cell block.

About 8:15 a.m., P.D.T., shafts of white smoke streamed into the sky, followed by the sound of explosions, as the new attack was begun.

At 8:30 a.m. a guard at the prison reported by telephone to the Associated Press that he hadn't time to talk, but "we're sure going after them" right now.

The six convicts during the night had held 10 prison officers as hostages for about seven hours, shooting some and injuring all but one. The hostages were rescued in a raging gun battle.

Guard Harold P. Stites was killed during the dark hours by retailers direct will be lifted," Mr. Kersey said.

He explained that the cost of crates had jumped from 30 to 50 cents; cost of picking would be approximately 70 cents a crate; and on top of that there were costs of straw, weevil bait, hauling and one year's work before harvesting to take into consideration.

"That is the main reason production is not heavier," he said. He estimated that no more than 20 acres of land in Saanich had been newly planted in strawberries this year.

LOGANBERRY INCREASE
Commenting on loganberry production, Mr. Kersey said there would be some increase this year due to the fact that prices paid were more conducive to planting. Farmers felt that the prices on logans were fairer.

The loganberry plants in the municipality had "wintered" all right, but farmers were not looking forward to an expected shortage of pickers when the season opens around the end of June.

"Strawberry growers hope the ceiling price of $4.20 a crate to are here today to attempt to now held in a Yugoslav prison,

forced to bail out over Yugoslavia and were given assistance
by Gen. Mihailovic.

Saanich Sets Boundaries In Amalgamation Plan

For the purpose of starting negotiations towards amalgamating inner districts of Saanich with the city, the municipal council on Thursday night chose a tentative boundary line for division.

The line suggested by Councillor J. W. Casey of Inner Ward 7 is as follows: From Burnside Road to Wilkinson Road to Roy Road to Carey Road to McKenzie Avenue to Cedar Hill Cross Road through to the municipal boundary.

Reeve A. G. Lambrick and all councillors with the exception of Thomas Alexander, Ward 1 representative, agreed on the boundary line. But in their motion of acceptance they included a provision that anyone north of the line will be given the opportunity to be included in the inner district if they so desire.

Naming the division point, it was pointed out, did not mean that amalgamation definitely would result. The action was taken merely to give council representatives to the Greater Victoria amalgamation committee something to submit in order to find out what the city could offer to the districts immediately adjacent to its boundaries should the boundaries be extended.

MUST BE DIVIDED

It was agreed, however, that Saanich must be divided. If the inner sections did not join the city, a separate municipality could be formed, it was suggested.

The meeting specially called to discuss amalgamation of inner districts with the city and secession of outer wards, was attended by 36 delegates from the various wards, many of whom addressed the meeting.

Absence of Councillors Alexander and J. Len Hobbs, who were attending a function in town, held up decision on the amalgamation question until their arrival two and a half hours after the meeting started.

Speaking on behalf of Ward
Three ratepayers, C. N. Bell said
a solicitor had been engaged to draw up a petition for secession
of part of the ward from Mc-Kenzie Avenue northward if amalgamation with the city came about.

Robert Brydon for Ward Four,
said a division line had been agreed upon in the ward and as soon as the matter of amalgamation was clarified, they would be ready to take action.

H. C. Oldfield for Ward Five,
said there was too much sectional
interest being shown in the matter of secession. Ward Six representatives earlier had stated
they desired secession for their
ward and nothing more.

"We are prepared," Mr. Oldfield said, "to include parts of adjacent wards in our petition for secession."

Charles Haywood for Ward
Three, said his district's stand
definitely was against amalgamation with the city. This had been agreed upon at a meeting of ratepayers.

Speaking on behalf of ratepayers from the ward, Sidney Pickles stated that the move to secede was being made under provisions of the Relief of Saanich Act.

"We have complied with the provisions of that act in every detail, yet, so far the government has not reached a decision to grant our request," Mr. Pickles said.

He said it was the belief in Ward 6 that efforts had been made in areas outside the ward which wished to remain attached to the ward, "to deter the government from granting Ward 6 its legal and moral rights." Any such interference, he said, was entirely out of order.

All that the ward desired was to be given the rights of self determination in regard to its municipal affairs.

"Ward 6 wants nothing from any other area and neither is it endeavouring to interfere in any way with any petition which has been or may be presented by any other area in Saanich for secession," he stated.

MUNICIPAL MONSTROSITY

Mr. Pickles said there were two previous efforts made by the ward "to escape from the bondage of being part of the municipal monstrosity of Saanich," but they had been unsuccessful.

He said the ward comprised an area of 11,296 acres or about 19 square miles; the whole of Saanich comprised 36,267 acres;
therefore the ward had nearly one-third of the total area of the municipality and about one-eleventh of the population.

"Our ward revenue in 1942 was $30,420, of which about $18,500
was spent in Ward Six. Today
I understand the situation is relatively worse as the revenue is about $40,000 and the expenditure has risen to only about $20,000,"
Mr. Pickles continued.

He suggested that the area in between Ward Six and the inner wards included in amalgamation could form a separate municipality.

Speaking of the lack of action by the provincial government to grant the ward its request, Mr.
Pickles declared:

"This simply is a piece of political claptrap created, I understand, by Herbert Anscomb when he was minister of municipal affairs.

"We object," he concluded, "to the continuous milking to which Ward Six has been subjected for very many years."

Addressing the meeting immediately after Mr. Pickles, Councillor W. C. Kersey said Ward Six was almost 100 per cent in favor of secession. The Cameron Report, he said, had not given any relief to the farmers as far as taxation was concerned.

Capt. W. C. Warren, another Ward Six ratepayer, likened the ward to a person reaching maturity and wanting to set up housekeeping for herself.

OBJECT TO SPLIT

Councillors John Oliver and George Austin objected to "separating the municipality piece by piece," and stated they would not endorse the petition of Ward Six ratepayers.

Speaking on behalf of Ward
Three ratepayers, C. N. Bell said
a solicitor had been engaged to
draw up a petition for secession
of part of the ward from Mc-Kenzie Avenue northward if amalgamation with the city came
about.

Robert Brydon for Ward Four,
said a division line had been
agreed upon in the ward and as soon as the matter of amalga-
mation was clarified, they would
be ready to take action.

H. C. Oldfield for Ward Five,
said there was too much sectional
interest being shown in the matter of secession. Ward Six representatives earlier had stated
they desired secession for their
ward and nothing more.

"We are prepared," Mr. Old-
field said, "to include parts of
adjacent wards in our petition for
secession."

Charles Haywood for Ward
Three, said his district's stand
definitely was against amalgamation with the city. This had been agreed upon at a meeting of ratepayers.

Red Cross Starts Water Safety Course

First course for instructors,
under the recently organized Red Cross swimming and water safety program has been completed by candidates who attended the three-day session arranged by the B.C. division of the society in Vancouver, April 24-26.

Attended by 40 swimmers, sent by 12 Red Cross branches
throughout British Columbia, this course will be repeated at intervals during the next few months to provide instruction for swimmers from other parts of the province. Arranged under supervision of Col. Gordon Stirrett, chairman of this committee of the B.C. Red Cross, the instructor was Douglas Whittle, vice-chairman and member of the physical education
staff of U.B.C.

"These first Red Cross instructors now are qualified to return to their own districts to assist in swimming programs already established, or to organize such groups where none exist. They will have the co-operation of their local Red Cross branch.
Candidates attended from Alberni, Chemainus, Comox, Cranbrook, Kamloops, Kelowna, Lillooet, Pemberton, Salmon Arm,
Vernon, Rossland and Vancouver.

Arrangements have been made locally, to have instructors from

More Cars, More Drivers in B.C.

Indicative of British Columbia's growing population and prosperity are statistics issued today by the Motor Record Branch showing increases in both the number of motor vehicles licensed to operate on B.C. highways and the number of persons licensed to drive vehicles.

At March 31 of this year total number of motor vehicles licensed to operate on B.C. highways was 121,007, an increase of 6,556 over the 114,451 licensed at that time in 1945.

At the same time the number of licensed drivers was set at 157,003, an increase of 29,093 from the 127,910 drivers licensed on March 31, 1945.

Breakdown of the total number of autos licensed in the province

showed increases in the numbers of both passenger vehicles and commercial vehicles. At the end of March of this year there were 92,349 licensed autos, compared with 87,419 at the same time in 1945; and 28,658 licensed commercial motor vehicles, compared with 27,032 at the same time in 1945.

Indicative of the shifting population were statistics on the number of non-resident licenses issued by the office. Increases in all categories, touring, special and commercial, were noted for 1946 over 1945.

There are also 225 more motorcycles licensed in B.C. now than at this time last year, while the number of licensed trailers has increased by 758 during the past year.

Oregon, Washington
On Standard Time

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Oregon and Washington apparently are going to remain on standard time this summer.

The governors of the two states announced Thursday they would not issue proclamations calling for daylight saving time. Governor Earl Snell of Oregon explained they lacked authority to enforce such an order. At Olympia, the office of Governor Wallgren confirmed the decision.

Certificates, No Court Hearing
For Britons Becoming Canadians

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons passed eight of the 47 sections of the Canadian citizenship bill Thursday and left three over for further debate today. Amendments to reduce the probationary period for British subjects who desire to become Canadian citizens were rejected.

Two further amendments are pending on one of the sections. One, proposed by State Secretary Martin, sponsor of the bill, removes the necessity for British subjects to go before a court to obtain citizenship. If the amendment is adopted—and indications were that it would be—British subjects after fulfilling the five-year residence rule will merely make application for citizenship and unless there are exceptional circumstances it will be granted.

The other pending amendment came from John Diefenbaker, P.C., Lake Centre, Sask., who proposed addition to the bill of a bill of rights for Canadian citizens.

Sometimes an immigrant came to this country and it was not apparent for several years that he was mentally or physically unfit and would become a public charge or had criminal tendencies. If he had not been granted citizenship, he could easily be deported.

If citizenship was granted after only one year of residence, it would be necessary to revoke the citizenship before the immigrant could be deported and this would leave him without citizenship in any country.

Arthur Smith, P.C., Calgary, West, welcomed Mr. Martin's proposed amendment, but said he also favored reduction of the probationary period for British subjects. Such a policy was justified by Canada's partnership in the Commonwealth.

In actual fact British subjects had enjoyed citizenship after a year in Canada. The deportation provisions of the Immigration Act could still be retained.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said that in his opinion a British subject who took up residence in Canada was a Canadian from the time of his arrival.

Alistair Stewart, C.C.F., Winnipeg, North, said he, a British immigrant, had felt no hardship at having to wait five years before he could become a Canadian. He had been satisfied to serve his "apprenticeship."

A test of loyalty which would determine whether citizenship should be revoked for disloyalty was suggested by Howard Green, P.C., Vancouver South. He referred to naturalized and Canadian-born Japanese living on the Pacific coast and suggested some means should be devised to test loyalties such as theirs.

BILL OF RIGHTS

John Diefenbaker's bill of rights amendment has sections aimed at the suspension of habeas corpus and action taken by the government in the recent Soviet espionage investigation to which he had previously objected.

His bill would provide:

"1. Freedom of religion, freedom of speech and the right to peaceable assembly are assured."
"2. Habeas corpus shall not be suspended except by Parliament."
"3. No one shall be required to give evidence before any tribunal or commission at any time if denied counsel or other constitutional safeguards."

The section to which the proposed amendment would be added was left over for further discussion.

Mr. Diefenbaker said Canadians could only be assured of their fundamental rights by their inclusion in a statute. Both Britain and the United States had bills of rights and it was time Canada acquired one.

200 Canadians In London Parade

LONDON (CP) — London will be a floodlit city during Victory Week celebrations lasting from June 8 to June 15, with the principal landmarks illuminated each night.

The ministry of works announced today that special plans have been made by electrical engineers to play colored lights on such famous structures as Buckingham Palace, the Nelson Column in Trafalgar Square and St. Paul's Cathedral. The colors will be chosen so as to accentuate details of the architecture.

Simultaneously further details of the Canadian participation in the Victory parade June 8 were announced. Capt. Adrian Hope of Chester, N.S., senior Canadian naval officer in Britain, and Air Commodore H. B. Godwin, deputy air officer commanding the R.C. A.F. overseas, will march at the head of the parade with a senior army officer. A detachment of one officer and 11 other ranks from the Canadian Women's Army Corps and the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F. will be among the 200 Canadians leading the Dominions' column.

Wing. Cmdr. J. A. Sproule of London, Man., will head the R.C.A.F. contingent in the parade.

'Taxi Broker' Gets
Vancouver License

VANCOUVER (CP)—The traffic commission has decided to allow taxi brokers in Vancouver.

Over the opposition of the Vancouver Taxicab Owners' Association, it granted a brokerage license to J. H. Samson, only person in recent years to apply under the Cab and Commercial Vehicles By-law for a license to become a taxi broker.

A taxi broker is a person who maintains a taxi office, telephones and a dispatcher. He receives calls for taxi service, which he farms out to men who own their own cabs. To outside appearances, the whole thing appears to be a single taxi company.

The taxi owners claim the taxi broker is a "parasite on the industry" and that the brokerage system was not beneficial to the industry during the days of cheap taxis a decade ago.

Meters By Fall

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nickel-an-hour metered parking will replace half-hour parking regulations in the Vancouver downtown area by next autumn under recommendations the traffic commission passed on to the council.

Aldermen have already approved the principle of installing 1,000 meters here on a six-month trial basis.

Sole exception to the five-cent-on-hour metered parking will be in 15-minute parking areas adjacent to the post office, banks and liquor stores. There, parking meters will be adjusted to provide a quarter-hour metered parking for one cent.

The area to be metered will be roughly the downtown business and industrial area.

9,062 Jobs Open

VANCOUVER (CP)—National Employment Service predicts that by the end of July there will be as many vacant jobs in British Columbia as people out of work.

N.E.S. officials said they expected between 13,000 and 14,000 available jobs by that time, 5,000 more than at present.

Latest figures show 9,062 job vacancies in B.C., 6,933 for men and 2,129 for women compared with the previous week's figures, 6,874 and 2,118, a total of 8,992.

ANOTHER FUSE SIZZLING

ARAB LEADERS IN PALESTINE ARE beginning to talk about bloody strife on a widespread scale if the recommendations of the Anglo-American Inquiry Committee are adopted. While the Jews are pleased about the prospect of 100,000 of their race being admitted to the Holy Land in the not too distant future, their leaders, too, see only a very partial solution of the problem in the document just made public. In other words, to use the vernacular, the fat is still in the fire—with Britain, as usual, getting the blame for everything and expected to produce the requisite corrective.

Not long ago, it will be recalled, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin intimated that Britain was about ready to give up three of her mandates on the African continent. Palestine was not included; specifically mentioned were Tanganyika, Togoland, and the Cameroons. The strategic significance of the Holy Land to the "Empire lifeline," of course, remains an important factor in British policy. But if Great Britain is expected to continue to accept responsibility for law and order in this troubled spot of the Middle East, regardless of considerations of defence, she is entitled to some practical administrative assistance from the United States. And if it is true that Mr. Bevin is already sounding off official Washington on this point, so much the better, although a Congressional election year is scarcely productive of the kind of political atmosphere in which a proposal of this kind would bring useful results. Because of all the irritating imponderables of the new condition which the Anglo-American Committee's report seems to have brought about, therefore, the psychological moment for United Nations intervention is obviously near.

Several of the Arab states are members of the Organization; their representatives must realize that the bellicose utterances of leaders assuming to speak for the Palestinian Arabs constitute a threat to the peace and security of the whole of the Middle East. Under Article 99 of the Charter, the Secretary-General is empowered to call the attention of the Security Council to any development which threatens the maintenance of international accord. This body is due to meet again in New York next Tuesday to hear the report on Russia's withdrawal from Iran. The state of affairs in Palestine might even take precedence in the resumed deliberations.

RETAIN ASSOCIATIONS

ALTHOUGH THE PACIFIC COAST Militia Rangers were never called upon to demonstrate their training and natural abilities in the face of enemy forces, British Columbians on the coast fringe had little doubt over their competency to render a good account of themselves had the occasion arisen. They were, for the most part, men familiar with the woods, experts with rifles and possessed of an all-important local knowledge on which they could have called had the danger against which they were mobilized materialized.

The groups did, however, give yeoman service in the organization and execution of searches for lost persons and in other ways helped to meet community needs. Widely respected, they developed a fine esprit de corps and formed friendships which would, under any circumstances, have been enduring. Their opportunities to preserve the cohesion and team spirit they developed during the war years will be served admirably through the formation of a special association to which returning servicemen will be admitted. In addition to retaining the nucleus of an excellent force for a specific job in the event of unhappy developments in the international field, they will remain a working agency to carry on peacetime duties for which there will be a continuing need.

Apart from their value as a public service medium, the Rangers will find much that is attractive in their new organization. They are assured a wide membership to share their interest in the outdoors and many to profit by their wood lore and general handiness away from the urban centres.

MR. DREW, NOT MR. KING

MR. MACKENZIE KING HAS NOT TOLD the representatives at the Dominion-Provincial Conference in Ottawa that they have no choice about the federal government's proposal but "to take it or leave it." And the rabid Tory newspaper which accuses him of using the expression should consult its own news dispatches from the national capital to discover the origin of the expression. It will find that Ontario's Premier Drew employed the term to record the impression which Finance Minister Ilsley's statement had left on his mind. But this is the type of distortion of fact to which an inattentive section of the press of Canada stoops in its favorite pastime of hurling brickbats at the Prime Minister.

The same opposition newspaper, incidentally, argues with unblinking disregard of elementary common sense that the Dominion in its employment of every available dollar in Canada's maximum war effort, took and used the province's taxation rights to the limit and "drained the pockets of the people, and kept them empty." Nothing in this is intended as a discussion of the readiness with which all the provinces gave up their precious prerogatives to speed victory over the common enemy. It is, however, to draw attention to the implication that the pursuance of that mutually agreeable policy not only did not empty the "pockets of the people," but helped them to build up a bulky reserve of spending power—as witness their holdings of war bonds and other forms of gilt-edged security—never before experienced in the history of the Dominion. Putting words in the mouth of the Prime Minister is puerile enough; but insulting the intelligence of a people whose wartime wealth increased by no less than $10,000,000 is kindergarten.

NOT TO BE TAKEN LIGHTLY

AS CRITICS ARISE TO PROTEST VARIOUS clauses in Canada's new citizenship bill, specifically that section which requires British subjects from other parts of the Commonwealth to reside in this Dominion five years to qualify for the new status, they might profitably compare the conditions now existing with those planned under the new legislation.

Last month, in an adjoining column, this newspaper pointed to some of the disabilities suffered by British subjects residing in Canada for many years and enjoying wide rights as citizens. One of their problems lies in the conflicts arising over the Immigration Act which could exclude them from re-entry after an absence from this country of a specified time. Among other things, the new bill will eliminate such confusion and will remove apparent anomalies under the law as it now stands.

To Canadians, the new definition of citizenship is a matter of no small account. It is something for which their schools and other institutions prepare them. Citizenship is not and should not be taken lightly. It is to be assumed that those who wish to enjoy its privileges should understand its responsibilities and not treat acquisition of its rights merely as a casual cloak to be put on or taken off at will. We can see little weight in the argument advanced by spokesmen who refer to prospective immigrants from other Commonwealth nations being deterred from settling in Canada by the "citizenship apprenticeship" period. If such people wish to plant their roots in this country, they will surely be willing to meet the requirements set forth in the bill. If they wish merely to float into Canada and float out again, taking what opportunities they can find to improve their own lot without making some definite contribution to nationhood, should they be granted the rights which are honestly earned by those who stay here, work for the nation as well as themselves, and want to be Canadians in the fullest meaning of the name? No fair-minded person would expect such preferential treatment. Nor would it be of value to those among the shifting populations of the Commonwealth who wish to make Canada their permanent home.

Moreover, the qualification period would assuredly fit newcomers more fully into the Canadian way of life than would a shorter term of exposure to the customs and traditions of this land. If the clarified citizenship status is as valuable as Canadians consider it, then the term required for qualification is not too long.

A CALL FOR AID

ADULTS WHO HAVE SEEN CHILDREN, quite ignorant of their own cruelty, plugging animals, will realize how essential it is that the rising generation learn humane practices at an early age. There is little inclination, these days, for boys to tie the tails of dogs, or to perform any of the more stereotyped thoughtless acts which cause suffering to these mute creatures. But there are still instances of careless treatment by youngsters that should be corrected. In view of that condition, the public will welcome announcement by the British Columbia Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of plans to extend its work to include junior humane education. It is one more praiseworthy field of activity for a society which accomplishes so much in "speaking for those who cannot speak." Moreover, it is one more recommendation for a generous response to the S.P.C.A. tag day tomorrow.

SUBTLE PSYCHOLOGY

WITH THE BONES OF DR. BROCK Chisholm's contention regarding the dangers of permitting a child to dwell in a world of fancy only decently interred, another psychologist has arisen to challenge tradition. Dr. George Crane, Chicago, would ignore the age-old rule applied to virtually all schoolrooms by permitting students to chew gum in class.

The move, of course, will be misinterpreted. At first glance it might almost seem a sales inducement for the chicle industry. But it is more significant than that. Gum-chewing in class is a favored habit because it is forbidden. The prohibition gives even the most tasteless wad a subtle flavor of its own. Dr. Crane would eliminate that tang by making the practice legal. It would probably have the same effect as opening all orchards to all small boys, who would find little sweetness in the hard, green apples they plier if the fruit were theirs for the asking.

There is less gossip in a big city, but only because nobody knows others well enough to learn about their sins.

When you coin a phrase that tickles your vanity—a new, arresting, striking phrase—the best place for it is the wastebasket.

Friends In the Air

ROYAL BANK OF CANADA
MONTHLY LETTER

IN SPITE OF THE FACT that in air sense Canada is at the middle of the world, more is needed for air success than to rest complacently upon her natural advantages. Far apart though such factors may seem, the success of Canada in peacetime aviation depends upon good aircraft, low rates, political and economic stability, a confident trend in business, reasonable taxation rates and enthusiastic attempts by government and people to build up business.

It would be well to take nothing for granted. Given geographical position: materials, factories and skilled men and women to build planes; natural resources and manufactured goods with which to trade; and many thousands of young men trained in all aspects of flying, there remain as needs to place and keep Canada in the lead of aviation development, imaginative initiative and sustained effort.

CANADA'S PART in developing aviation, from the work of W. R. Turnbull at the beginning of the century to the exploits of bush pilots who taught the world how to carry freight over the tough northern stretches, coupled with wartime developments and future prospects, need no underlining. Air travel has raised many new problems for international solution, as well as pointing up some old worries. Before development of the airplane, Mercator's map was all right. An air map is quite different. In the centre of the air map showing the northern hemisphere there is a dot indicating the north pole. Scattered over the circle are smaller dots representing cities. Reykjavik is a dot about an inch from Montreal, Moscow is another point an inch beyond, and another inch takes one to Aden. Winnipeg is an inch from Nome, and two inches from Tokyo. No boundary lines on the air map say "This is Canada," or "This is Iceland," or "This is Japan." If a man wished to leave Toronto for a flying visit to South Africa, he might be tempted by the Mercator map to go by way of Miami, Natal (in Brazil), trans-Atlantic to west Africa, and thence south, but the air map shows that his shorter route is by way of Montreal, Labrador and Europe.

OVER-WATER FLYING has become a commonplace. The great circle route that cuts Montreal, the Straits of Belle Isle, Northern Ireland and London stretches on to Paris and points south, and if airplanes left tracks the route would be well worn. In its annual report for 1944-45, the Department of Transport records 127 round trips by T.C.A., carrying 600 tons of mail, 57 tons of freight and 800 passengers. These trips were in addition to those by the air force.

Need for a northeast staging route was suggested to Canada by the United Kingdom in 1941. Before the end of that year Goose Bay field was in use, and upon completion of the Greenland and Iceland fields by the United States, a staging route was available for comparatively short-range aircraft. Estimates of possible traffic vary widely, but all are optimistic. An English source suggests, five departures from London for North America daily, with three more starting on the continent, carrying an average of 800 passengers per day in each direction.

VERY LITTLE HAD BEEN DONE in development of the north Pacific great circle route to the Far East until the war brought imperative needs. Today's airway is very good, at least as far as the Bering Sea, and it is likely to gain greater eminence as people come to realize that from the North American mid-continent it brings Shanghai 4,300 miles nearer than by the Hawaii-Manila route flown before the war. The northwest staging route was built, developed and put into operation by Canada before Japan entered the war and subsequently improved with the co-operation of United States army engineers and workmen.

The Dominion's potential position among the world's aviation leaders has been recognized. When the Chicago International Conference on Civil Aviation created the first inclusive international organization to establish air navigation standards and procedures, it selected Canada as the seat of the Provisional International Civil Aviation Organization. Strong efforts should be made by Dominion, provincial, civic and other bodies, and by citizens generally, to make Montreal so acceptable to the 500 delegates meeting there this month that they will vote to make this Canadian metropolis the permanent seat of the organization.

There is an unprecedented number of persons in Canada with aviation skills and interests. More than 120,000 men and women have been employed in aircraft manufacturing. A quarter million men voluntarily entered the Royal Canadian Air Force, of whom 73,000 graduated as air crew. Thousands of schoolboys have learned the fundamentals of aeronautics. Yet the future of airplane plants, as in all countries, is still obscure.

Having come so far on the way toward international accord, it may turn out to be impossible to secure unanimity, but it should be practicable to achieve a satisfactory community of opinion on the fundamentals.

THE WHOLE WORLD is now much smaller, measured by travel time, than were Upper and Lower Canada at the time of Confederation, 79 years ago. Whether, in addition to making nations neighbors, the development of air travel shall also make them friends, is a question for the people and their leaders, outside the scope of practical aviation.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press World Affairs Writer

The disposition of Italy's great north African colony of Libya, now before the harassed conference of Big Four Foreign Ministers in Paris, assumes a position of vast importance as the result of the explosion in Palestine and neighboring Arabian states over the Anglo-American Committee's Palestinian recommendations, which are being hotly assailed by Jews and Arabs alike.

It's this way: The full significance of the Palestinian situation can be gauged only by considering its relation to Britain's battle to maintain control of the Mediterranean, through which passes her imperial life-line. As pointed out in Thursday's column, both Palestine and Egypt are key positions in this life-line. Thus Libya becomes a prize without price because it is so strategically situated on the Mediterranean as to make an invaluable base—a point emphasized by the manoeuvres of both Britain and Russia to secure a hold there.

The Libyan question presents a tough problem for the Paris parley. As a base this colony is worth more to either Britain or Russia than as though the sands of its endless deserts were of pure gold. Both these powers have made bids for trusteeships. Uncle Sam, taking the role of a Solomon, has proposed a 10-year trusteeship under the United Nations and then complete independence.

Libya was Mussolini's pride—his colonial Garden of Eden. Much of the area along the coast is fertile, and there he built model colonies for Italian farmers, driving away the unfortunate Senoussi who had held the lands for centuries. Thousands of the natives were pushed back into the terrible deserts to the south, where they perished by thousands.

But the Senoussi have returned to their homesteads, and are looking for their independence.

World Peace Hinges On Foreign Trade, Says U.S. Visitor

A high level of employment, higher standards of living and more goods for more people for less money, brought about by foreign trade profitable to both sides is imperative to build a good peace, according to J. C. Herbsman, industrial agent for the port of Seattle, speaking at a joint Rotary Club-Pacific Northwest Trade Association luncheon in the Empress Hotel Thursday.

The U.S. was now a great industrial machine which could produce, under normal conditions, more than it could consume, he said. He warned that the surplus must be disposed of to avoid another depression which might create anarchy and chaos in the world. Freedom of enterprise must be maintained, he said; and there should be an open world market where every nation could compete, and where products were sold on their merit.

Countries could pay off indebtedness by exporting goods and services, he said. He believed U.S. Lend-Lease to the United Kingdom during the war could be written off. The people of the U.S. believed the U.S. through Lend-Lease, had bought time to prepare their country for war and, as a result, not one bomb had fallen in the western hemisphere, he said.

Canada, similar to the U.S. had made loans to countries intending to import Canadian goods, he added.

He spoke of the various international organizations being put into operation to make the world co-operative.

Before the war, he pointed out, the British pound, and the Canadian and U.S. dollar had controlled 5 per cent of the world trade. He believed that now it should control 75 per cent, but warned that if the United Kingdom did not have credit extended to it, that country would have to go back to its wartime standards.

If that happened, Mr. Herbsman believed, the same economic blocs which had opened the way before the war to the various forms of fascism, would come into existence again.

He also warned against regimentation of foreign trade. "If that happens," he said, "private enterprise will go out the window." He also spoke against any attempt to return to establishment of status quo.

All the U.S. wanted out of the war, he said, was a fair and square deal for the U.S., for Canada, and for all the world.

Carson Visualizes Extension of P.G.E. To Yukon, Alaska

Finlay Forks would prove the best route for continuance of the P.G.E., Hon. E. C. Carson, acting premier and minister of public works, told the Pacific Northwest Trade Association at a dinner given by the British Columbia government Thursday evening in honor of delegates.

Mr. Carson said studies by the provincial government had shown Finlay Forks to be the best route in looking to the time when the railway would be extended to the Yukon and Alaska. He pointed out that continuance of the P.G.E. would give an outlet to the vast coal deposits of the Peace River, as well as the grain grown there. At the same time products grown along the southern route of the railroad were those needed in the north.

Mr. Carson advocated more attention to air travel in development of the north. Young men trained in battle, he said, should be utilized in extension of airlines.

"Air transport," he said, "has probably made Canada the most strategic point on the globe."

With reference to development of the north by air, Mr. Carson urged a return of the imagination and courage of the men who built the C.P.R.

25,000 MILES OF ROADS. The province, he said, now had 25,000 miles of roads and 62 miles of bridges. He described the present task in road building as completing routes through the unlinked areas of the province. He noted the Pine Pass Highway area and the Alaska Highway. He expected this would be done by the fall of 1947.

Mr. Carson said the contract for the road between Hope and Princeton had also been let. He told the meeting that $4,850,000 had been set aside for maintenance of British Columbia roads this year. This was $1,000,000 more than ever allotted for this purpose before. He warned that difficulties in obtaining equipment would make it hard to maintain the roads during the coming year.

The Canadian army, he noted, was now maintaining the Alaska Highway. It would be impossible, he said, for B.C. to undertake future disposition of the highway with the present revenues in the province.

L. H. Eyres, minister of trade and industry and railways, presided and introduced Mr. Carson.

Province to Collect Royalty Of 10 Cents Per Ton On Kelp

The B.C. government by order-in-council has set the royalty on kelp and other aquatic plants harvested on this coast at 10 cents per ton wet. Cost of a license to operate a kelp processing plant and to harvest kelp has been set at $10 each.

These regulations along with others governing the harvesting of seaweed were provided for in amendments to the Fisheries Act made at the last session of the B.C. Legislature in anticipation of increasing interest by industry in kelp harvesting.

The regulations require each applicant for a license to harvest kelp to describe in detail and indicate on an Admiralty chart the area which he proposes to harvest and to give the species of plant he is planning to take.

A monthly statement of the quantity of kelp a harvester has taken must be made to the fisheries department.

The regulations say:

"Every person who harvests kelp shall employ such methods as will sever clean and plant stalks. The use of apparatus which tends to strain or break the plant from its holdfast on the sea bottom is prohibited."

All kelp cut from the sea floor must be removed.

"Every person," the regulations continue, "engaged in harvesting kelp must leave undisturbed an uncut strip not less than 50 yards long and the full width of the bed being cut, for each lineal mile harvested, uncut strips to run perpendicular to the tidal currents at that place."

At the same time regulations have been made requiring each person cultivating, growing or harvesting oysters, clams and other shell-fish from leased foreshore to make a yearly statement to the provincial fisheries department giving the quantity of fish harvested.

Strange as it seems, Asbestos helps to provide many of our homes with clear, sparkling water. You see, in hundreds of communities far-sighted water works superintendents and consulting engineers have chosen Johns-Manville Transite Asbestos Pipe for water mains.

One reason why so many Canadian municipalities—and industries—prefer J-M Transite Pipe is that it cannot rust or corrode and the purity of the water is not impaired. Also the high water-carrying capacity of this Asbestos-cement pipe helps to maintain high pressures and reduce pumping costs to the taxpayer.

Transite Pressure Pipe is just one example of Asbestos "magic." Today hundreds of Johns-Manville Asbestos products are serving homes, farms and industry—defying fire, weather, wear and the ravages of time!

Mrs. Ena Anderson Home On Sunday

MONTREAL—Six years is a long time to be away from home as a voluntary front-line war worker but now that her task is over, Mrs. Ena Anderson, well-known British Columbia woman, doesn't know what to do with herself.

Mrs. Anderson, superintendent of the British Columbia Services Canteen in London, Eng., told some of her war experiences boarding the C.P.R.'s Dominion at Windsor Station en route to her former home. She will arrive in Vancouver Sunday morning.

Superintendent of the first Canadian canteen to be established in Britain, she arrived overseas shortly after the outbreak of war and worked under the late Mrs. Seldon Humphries of Victoria, B.C., victim of the 1940 blitz. It was after her death she was placed in charge of the canteen which served more than 7,000,000 meals to Canadian servicemen.

When the canteen closed recently, tributes were received from Canada's Governor-General, Viscount Alexander and senior officers of the three branches of Canada's armed services.

"When I get to Canada I shall take the earliest opportunity of informing your countrymen of the splendid work you have done on behalf of your fighting men," was His Excellency's tribute in presenting the first certificate of service to voluntary workers at British Columbia House, shortly before he left England. Lt. Gen. J. C. Murchie, Chief of Staff, Canadian Army Overseas, paid special thanks to Mrs. Anderson for her work.

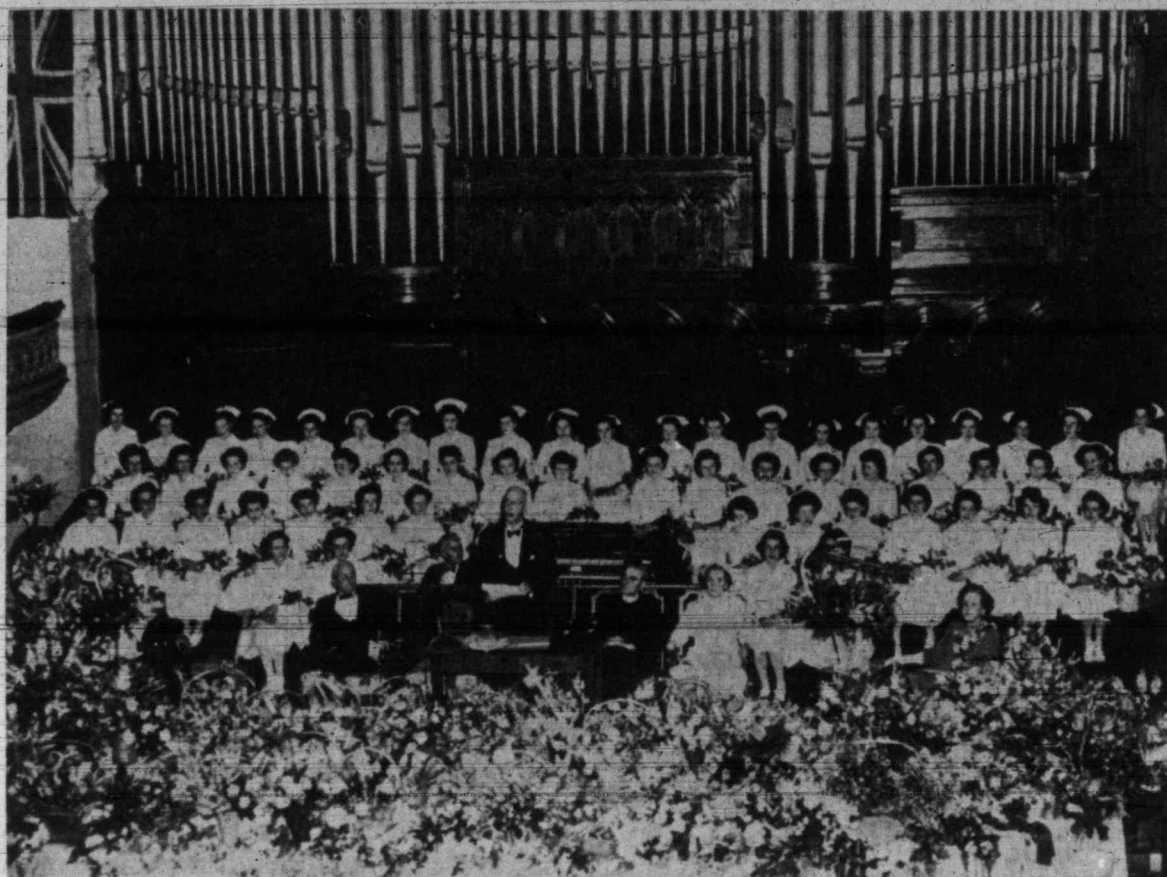

Mrs. Anderson said, although the buzz bombs were more "troublesome," she had her narrowest escape during a bombing raid in 1942. She was in her living quarters at the time and the blast which demolished most of the building, tossed her completely out of her room and carried her down the corridor. She suffered slight shock and bruises.

Refreshments were served, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. Pimlott and Miss H. Bulter.

Graduation Ceremonies Held For Jubilee Nurses

The largest class that has ever graduated from the Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing, and the first to complete their training since the end of the war, is pictured in the choir loft of Metropolitan United Church just before receiving diplomas Thursday evening.

"I solemnly pledge, before God and before this assembly," so began the measured tones of 57 youthful graduate nurses repeating the Florence Nightingale Pledge, crowning point in the graduation exercises of the class of 1946 of the Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing.

The exercises, completing three years of arduous training, were held Thursday evening in the Metropolitan United Church, crowded to overflowing with proud parents, relatives and friends of the young nurses. Bouquets of red and white carnations carried by the graduates carried out the color theme of the School of Nursing and many baskets and bouquets of flowers banked the platform.

A march was played by the organist, Edgar Holloway, while the graduating class filed to their places in the choir loft and student nurses and graduates filled the space reserved for them in the centre of the church. Rev. A. E. Whitehouse gave the invocation, followed by two duets by Dr. and Mrs. Harry T. Johns.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Robert S. and Patience Day Memorial Scholarship by W. S. Day to Margaret Jean Moncrieff of Kamloops, for attaining the highest degree of general proficiency in theoretical and practical work. Miss Moncrieff also had the distinction of obtaining second highest marks in B.C. exams.

COVETED PRIZES
Mrs. T. G. Sheppard, member of the board of directors, officiated at the presentation of three scholarships by the board. The first went to Nancy Wright, as the student in the junior year who stands highest in theoretical work, and the second to Laura McDonald, as the student in the intermediate year, with highest standing in practical work. The third scholarship, awarded to a member of the graduating class, other than the one receiving the Robert S. and Patience Day Memorial Scholarship, who attains the highest number of marks in the provincial examinations was won by Miss Moncrieff, and went by reversion to Joan Piddington of Esquimalt.

Mrs. Sheppard also presented the scholarship of the B.C. Cement Co. to Hilda Russell of Victoria, student of the graduating class standing highest in theoretical work.

Presentation of the Royal Jubilee Hospital Alumnae scholarship of $250 was made by Miss Rae Kirkendall, president of the Alumnae, to Barbara Player, who is now taking post-graduate work in surgery at Memorial Hospital, New York.

Margaret Isabel Prowd of Victoria won the scholarship presented by the Victoria Chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C. as the member of the graduating class displaying outstanding qualities of leadership. Miss Marjorie Baint made the presentation as president of Victoria Chapter.

Diplomas were awarded to the graduating class by Dr. T. W. Walker, superintendent, and of nursing, conferred the badges.

Miss A. F. Mitchell, R.N., director of the school, presided over the ceremony. Describing nursing as the noblest profession a young woman may enter, G. H. Stevens, president of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, congratulated the graduates on behalf of the board for completing their training under the most difficult of wartime conditions.

ADDRESS BY MAYOR

Mayor P. E. George complimented the graduates and staff of the hospital on the work and sincerity of purpose put into the three years of training and extended sincere congratulations on behalf of the city council and the citizens of Greater Victoria.

Red Cross Ready For Postwar Period

TORONTO—In a financial review of the society's activities during the full war period, L. A. Winter, honorary comptroller, told the annual meeting of the Central Council of the Canadian Red Cross in session here this week that, as compared with Red Cross receipts in World War I of some $30,000,000 in receipts during the World War II totaled $121,091,425 from every source, and that expenditures during these years amounted to $104,331,105, leaving a balance of $16,760,320 to be budgeted for relief in Britain, Europe, China and other Red Cross work in the critical postwar period ahead.

Future virility of Red Cross in Canada depends in no small measure on the leadership given to our women. Mrs. Clara F. McEachren, chairman of the National Women's War Work Committee, told the Central Council. Strongly urging that every effort be made to hold together sewing and knitting groups across Canada under national guidance. Mrs. McEachren stressed not only the valuable assistance of this work in its future co-operation with all departments of Red Cross activity and in meeting local needs in Canada, but also its importance in the sphere of international relief.

ANALYZES CANADIAN ECONOMY

"Economic Geography of Canada" by A. W. Currie (MacMillan).

CANADA is divided economically into seven regions, each with its own economic and political interest, Prof. A. W. Currie says in "Economic Geography of Canada." Despite the linking of railroads and canals, the maintenance of national unity against the decentralizing tendencies of geography has been an ever-present problem.

Mr. Currie, associate professor of commerce at the University of British Columbia, divides the country into the Acadian-Appalachian region, St. Lawrence lowlands, prairie region, cordillera region, Canadian Shield, Mackenzie Valley and Hudson Bay lowlands and the tundra.

Of the seven, the St. Lawrence lowlands, covering southern Ontario and the Ottawa and St. Lawrence valleys as far as Quebec City, has by far the most complete and well-rounded economy of any region and consequently tends to favor high protection where for example the Acadian-Appalachian region (the Maritimes, Gaspe and Quebec's eastern townships) desires foreign markets for its potatoes, apples and newsprint and more trade for its merchant marine and seaports. The book analyzes physical and climatic features of each region in detail and relates them to the region's productivity. Such details as the latest method of summer fallowing on the prairies and the best way of packing codfish come in for their share of attention as problems of each region are dealt with.

A similar analysis of Newfoundland and Labrador is also included.

Canada Now Third In Production

Canada is now in third place in the industrial and productive world. R. M. Bryan, chairman foreign trade bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade, told the Pacific Northwest Trade Association meeting at the Empress Hotel, Thursday.

Mr. Bryan stressed that the Dominion had benefited through world trade. He pointed out that during 1945 vessels arriving at the port of Vancouver alone numbered 24,597.

He told the meeting the Vancouver Board of Trade would urge lifting of assessments on cargoes going through Vancouver harbor.

The west coast, he said, would become more important in the world of trade in coming years. J. C. Herbsman, industrial agent for the port of Seattle, said the Maritime Conference there in June would rank second only to

Asks Appointment Of Coast Residents To Defence Board

A petition that Pacific coast residents be appointed to the Joint Defence Commission in charge of the Alaska Highway was asked of the Pacific Northwest Trade Association in conference at the Empress Hotel by Kemper Freeman of Seattle, Thursday.

Reporting for the association's highway committee Mr. Freeman told delegates that when the commission was hastily formed during the war only easterners were appointed. He said that even now no resident of British Columbia or Washington was a member.

"Importance of joint defence is imperative," said Mr. Freeman. "Canada and the United States will be accessible targets in a future war. This is no longer an isolated area."

Regarding the Alaska Highway's western connection, Mr. Freeman pointed out that President Truman had appointed Senator Magnusson of Washington and the governor of Alaska to make representations in Ottawa. This, he said, had been done recently but timing of the calls had been poor because the federal government had been involved in the Dominion-Provincial Conference.

Mr. Freeman said the Dominion government did not feel it had the power at present to finance highways.

During discussion, which followed Mr. Freeman's report it was noted that construction of the western outlet would give access to the Alaska Highway to all parts of all parts of the Pacific Northwest.

last year's San Francisco Conference in world interest. He noted there would be delegates from 46 nations.

Mr. Herbsman told the meeting that British Columbia should be well represented at the conference. Seattle, he said, was going "all out" in plans for the meeting which would continue throughout June.

Cecil Solly Says:

'Valuable to Plant Peas Indoors'

PLANTING sweet peas and garden peas in the spring in the open garden makes them vulnerable to all sorts of birds and rodents. Starting the plants indoors would eliminate this risk.

Perhaps because of the cold spring this year, your early set peas have not done well or have been delayed in planting. Here is a note from a friendly garden reader, with an excellent suggestion.

"The Sunday before last I planted dwarf garden peas in a box of fine, mellow garden soil. I soaked the peas overnight and in the morning, after pouring the water off, sprinkled them thoroughly with nitrogen powder and planted them. Two days later I saw the white shoots and all were soon up."

"Now they are a little over two inches high and I'm going to set them with weak vinegar water as you have suggested and I make sure that the seed box follows the sun around the house each day. They are the finest looking little plants you can imagine. I think, without doubt, they will beat the ones planted in the garden early this spring."

"If anybody is a little late with the garden, peas started and cared for carefully might be able to catch up with those planted earlier, as the spring seems so late."

ENRICH SOIL FOR GOOD CROPS

Someone has said that the soil is like a savings bank. If you wish to draw food from it, you must put into the soil the where-withal by means of which that food will be formed.

Seed alone will not give you a successful garden. The best seed, if planted in impoverished soil—soil from which all of the vital elements have been removed by constant cropping will give you disappointing results.

The gardener who keeps up the fertility of his soil is the gardener who:

1. Keeps up the humus content of his soil by sowing and working into the soil cover crops; or if this is not convenient, supplies humus in the form of peat moss, manure, or from his own compost pile.
2. Furnishes available plant food to plants by regular applications of complete fertilizer—one that furnishes the elements required by plants for maximum yield and quality.
3. Tests the soil and maintains correct pH (acid and alkaline balance of the soil), for the crops he wishes to grow. For the average vegetable garden, a pH range of 6.0 to 7.5 is satisfactory. At this pH range a greater proportion of the plant food in the soil becomes available and maximum growth and yields are obtained. So do not line your soil until you have tested it. Overliming results in too much alkalinity and this is just as harmful as a too-acid condition. Simple soil testing outfits are obtainable at small cost from garden supply stores.

SOYBEANS ADD PROTEIN
A great deal of interest has been shown in sprouting soybeans and eating the sprout and attached bean. Because of the nutritive value of the sprouted bean people should try their hand at bean sprouting.

Some have reported that the beans mold, especially in warm weather. As a precaution against mold a pinch of chlorinated lime (calcium hypochlorite) may be added to the water, used for watering the beans.

The beans may be obtained from your favorite seed store. Any container, such as a flower pot or fruit jar, having a wide mouth and a hole or screen in the bottom to drain off water is satisfactory for sprouting beans. This container should be large enough to allow the beans to swell three or four times in volume.

HOW TO SPROUT BEANS
According to Donald Comin, horticulturist at the Ohio Agricultural Station here are the steps to follow.

Sort and wash the beans. Soak them in lukewarm water to cover. Use three pints of water per pound of beans, to which is added a pinch of chlorinated lime. Next morning drain the beans and pour them into the sprouting vessel. Cover the drain opening with a wire netting or cloth.

Keep the beans dark and moist by covering them with a damp cloth and a piece of cardboard to exclude the light. If a wet cloth bag is used instead of a pot, suspend it in a dark, damp place such as a covered pan which has a little water in the bottom.

Water the beans several times daily, being careful that the excess water is drained off. Each evening add a pinch of chlorinated lime to the sprouting water.

The beans are ready to eat from the third to fifth day in cool weather or by the second day in warm weather. Sprouted beans should be kept refrigerated like fresh meat. They may be blanched for two or three min-

Protests Suggestion 'Caddy' Just Big, Playful Sea Lions

The suggestion by J. F. Tait, supervisor of fisheries at Nanaimo, that Cadborosaurus was probably nothing more than a number of large seals sporting themselves on the sea's surface has met with opposition from A. K. McMartin and his associates who propose hunting and capturing "Caddy" for public display.

Mr. McMartin is positive as to the existence of "Caddy." Hundreds of people, among them many prominent citizens, have seen "Caddy," some from a distance of not more than a few hundred feet, Mr. McMartin asserts.

The prospective "Caddy" hunter describes the sea monster, from descriptions offered by more than a dozen people, as having a face and head bearing a close resemblance to a horse. "He might also pass as a giraffe, or a cross between a horse and a giraffe, as his large eyes and nostrils resemble a giraffe more than they do a horse," Mr. McMartin states.

He further describes "Caddy" as having pointed ears on top of his head, which he sticks about four feet out of the water. "Caddy" is dark greenish brown in color, Mr. McMartin adds. Mr. McMartin hopes his expe-

Farm Laborers Badly Needed, Says Smith

If farm labor is not available within the next week or two, lower milk production and reduced crops will be the result, C. M. Smith, manager of the Vancouver Island Emergency Farm Labor Service, said today, as he appealed for 35 men.

"The situation is serious. We need men to help out in potato, root and small strawberry crops," Mr. Smith said. "Dairymen are also badly needed. We get about one returned man in here a week seeking farm work. They are just not interested in it. They want industrial jobs where the pay and conditions are better."

Very few farmers on Vancouver Island have accommodation for married couples, Mr. Smith said, adding that such accommodation should be made available as soon as possible. The office here is unable to fill appeals for help it is receiving from farmers as far up-island as Courtenay, he said.

A Call to Action

addressed to All Members of the Church of England in Canada by

THE MOST REVEREND DERWYN T. OWEN, D.D., D.C.L.

Primate of All Canada

fought in human minds and hearts. The only new order worth building is a Christian order. At home and abroad, the Christian Church faces a renewed challenge.

That is why the Church of England in Canada is making an appeal to her people for rededication, self-sacrifice and constructive action.

This movement seeks to make Anglicans more truly Christian; to make them conscious of the historic mission of their church; to strengthen the spiritual, educational and social work of the Church at home and abroad.

and to provide funds for additional Clergy, for the pension fund, for helping the Mother Church in England and the Churches in Europe in their work of rehabilitation, for providing youth training and leadership, and for assisting all Dioceses in meeting their local needs.

The Appeal was launched in our Churches on the Feast of the Epiphany, Sunday, January 6th, and will continue till May 19th. In its spiritual aspects it has already reached the homes of our people and its programme will continue over years to come.

During the week of May 12th to 19th, every member of the Church of England in Canada, so far as possible, will be visited by a fellow member, authorized to receive contributions to the $4,300,000 fund needed to carry out the financial program.

I bespeak from every one of our members and friends the earnest, prayerful consideration of this urgent need. I am confident that if every individual does his and her part, the combined objective of spiritual enrichment and financial support will be fully achieved.

Manslaughter Trial At Assizes May 6

Five cases are listed for the spring assizes which open here May 6 before Mr. Justice Manson. Carew Martin, K.C., has been named crown prosecutor.

May 13 is the tentative date for hearing of the trial of Barlam Singh charged with the murder of Sunda Singh on or about Dec. 26, 1945.

Two manslaughter charges in connection with automobile accidents are scheduled for the assizes with the trial of James P. Brown set for the opening day. He is charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Patrick John Harris, March 2.

The other manslaughter charge is that against Frank Hinkman, arising out of the death of his wife in an automobile accident March 23.

Travellers from the last assizes is the trial of Lloyd Charles Ritter charged with committing perjury at the trial of Stanley Jean Tenning in city police court, Dec. 18, 1944.

Thomas Sydney Syme and Roy Twaddell are charged with breaking, entering and theft at the home of William Murray, 1912 Monteith Street, Nov. 26, 1945.

Maternal Death Rate Lower Last Year

The maternal death rate in Victoria during 1945 was less than half that in 1944, according to figures released by the report of the medical health officer for 1945, by Dr. Richard Felton.

Victoria's population is increasing, showing a positive vital index of 7.5, having a birth rate of 21.2 for the year and a death rate of 13.7. Despite this the infant mortality rate was slightly higher than for 1944. Of the 55 infant deaths registered this year, Dr. Felton stated, 18 occurred within the first 24 hours, 14 within the first week, and eight within the first month, representing 73 per cent of the total number.

No epidemic occurred in the city during 1945, and the total number of communicable diseases was 1,754, mostly measles, 694 cases, and chickenpox 634 cases. There were no cases of diphtheria or typhoid fever in the city, and only one case of cerebral meningitis.

Prevention of diphtheria, whooping cough, scarlet fever and measles by the administration of the appropriate vaccines and toxoids has continued, Dr. Felton said. A combination of diphtheria and whooping cough immunization were the most popular, with smallpox vaccination and scarlet fever immunization coming next.

The per capital cost of public health services in the city was 96 cents, slightly higher than for last year, he stated.

Victoria Man In Capitol Picture

Taking the part of the Prince of Wales in "Kitty," now at the Capitol Theatre, is Michael Bradley Dyne, nephew of Mrs. Bradley Dyne of Sidney. He is well known in Victoria having spent some years with his aunt before going to Hollywood about six years ago. While here he wrote short stories and did some work on radio with CBC in Vancouver.

MacKenzie Announces New U.B.C. Courses

VANCOUVER (CP) — The University of British Columbia is making plans for inauguration of several new courses.

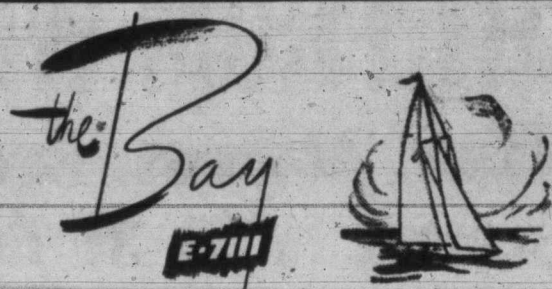

President MacKenzie, making the announcement Wednesday night, said the new courses will include agricultural engineering, farm mechanics and food technology. Forestry courses are being completely reorganized by adding to the forest engineering program, increasing the full-time staff from two to seven and developing the forest research area at Haney, B.C.

"We also propose to establish a department of architecture because of the large number of returned men who desire to take up the subject," Dr. MacKenzie said.

Also being expanded are the departments of Slavonic and Far Eastern studies, and home economics.

Hon. George M. Weir, Minister of Education, said the provincial government is 100 per cent behind the university and its staff. He said that at the coalition caucus at Victoria recently, nine-tenths of the members agreed that U.B.C. is "the most important institution of its kind west of Toronto."

The City of Victoria has been asked by Vancouver Diamond Jubilee committee to enter a float in the July 1 parade.

DOMINOES CAPTURE TWO STRAIGHT FROM WINDSOR

Athletics Deadlock Series With Tacoma

Jensen Clouts Homer

Bob Jensen, fireball right-hander of the Victoria Athletics, had himself a big evening at Athletic Park last night, as he checked in with an eight-hit pitching trick and crashed a two-run home run over the centre-field fence in the seventh, to feature a 10 to 3 victory over Tacoma Tigers.

Victoria win tied up the seven-game Western International League series at two wins apiece. Fifth clash will go on tonight at 8, with Leo Jones slated to take the mound for the A's and Chuck Greenlaw for Tacoma. Greenlaw was the winning Tacoma hurler in the opener Tuesday night.

Some added color was injected into last night's proceedings in the ninth frame when Umpire Ed Harris slapped a $10 fine on Tacoma outfielder Bob Joratz as the result of an argument over baseballs. The ump was subjected to a lot of abuse from Joratz's teammates but matters finally settled down and play resumed.

In marking up his second straight victory Jensen showed a lot of speed and improved control. He walked only four men as compared to the 14 he passed in his last winning performance at Wenatchee. Jensen sent eight batters back to the dugout on strike-outs.

Jensen's home run was a straightaway blow over the centre-field fence with Al Steele testing on third base by virtue of a triple. Jensen received a tremendous hand from the fans as he crossed the plate.

Victoria club finally came up with a sound game both on offense and defence.

tense and defence. The boys showed some hitting power in the clutch and backed up Jensen's hurling with fast fielding. Only error of the game, as far as the A's were concerned, came in the ninth when Jensen heaved wild to first after fielding Kuper's weak roller.

SIX-RUN RALLY

After Tacoma had moved ahead 1 to 0 in the first on singles by Hedington and Joratz a base on balls and infield out the Athletics roared back with six runs in the second. Cherry led off with a single and Steele followed with another safety. After Jensen had advanced the runners with a sacrifice, Cirmelle walked to load the bags. Walt Raimondi dented the wire atop the left-field fence for a ringing double to clean the sacks. Raimondi moved down to third as shortstop Peterson threw wild after fielding Murphy's roller. Babich singled to score Raimondi. Lowe fanned but Mulcahy kept the rally rolling with a double to score two more runs. Making his second appearance at the plate Cherry flied deep to Valle in centre.

Tacoma added single runs in the second and seventh while the A's drove in a single in the fifth and three in the seventh to close out the scoring.

Hal Jungbluth was the starting hurler for Tacoma, working two innings and being charked with six runs and seven hits. Ken Dupre, a southpaw, relieved him and finished out the game.

Steele was the big stickler for the A's with four hits in five appearances, including a pair of doubles.

A'S SIGN HURLER

Manager Laurel Harney of the Athletics added strength to his mound corps today by signing Johnny Carpenter, formerly with Seattle Rainiers of the Coast League. Carpenter, a big strong right-hander, has been attending the University of British Columbia and will join the team Saturday. It is expected it will take about a week to get him into shape. He will leave with the club next week for Yakima.

Another Lefty Beats Cards

Brooklyn Takes Lead

It looked today as if the National League is trying to south-paw the favored St. Louis Cardinals to death to keep the Red Birds from wresting the pennant from Chicago Cubs.

In 14 games this season, eight left-handers have worked against St. Louis sluggers for four victories. Altogether the Cards have dropped five games, only one to a right-hander.

The latest lefty to haunt the Cards was Dave Koslo, New York Giants hopeful, who handcuffed them with four hits yesterday and whipped them 5 to 1 to knock out St. Louis out of a first-place tie with Brooklyn. The Giants drove pitcher Harry Brecheen off the hill with a four-run uprising in the ninth inning.

The Dodgers came from behind to shackle the Cubs 3 to 2 when Billy Herman's pinch single in the eighth inning scored Pete Reiser and Dixie Walker with the tying and winning runs.

HOMER WINS

Boston's pin-up boy, Ted Williams, slammed a 10th-inning home run to give the American League-leading Red Sox a 5-to-4 victory over Detroit Tigers and a clean sweep of the three-game series. Tex Hughson, seeking his fourth mound triumph and the Red Sox' seventh in a row, appeared to have the game well in hand, but blew a 4-to-0 lead in the eighth and lefty Clem Dreisewerd had to come to his rescue. Dreisewerd was credited with the victory.

New York Yankees clung to the Sox heels by fringing Cleveland Indians 8 to 2 behind effective nine-hit hurling by Spud Chandler, first big league moundsman to register four victories.

Banged around for two straight days by the Philadelphia Athletics, St. Louis Browns came to life with a 16-hit barrage against a trio of hurlers to defeat their tormentors 10 to 3. The victory moved the Browns into the first division, replacing Cleveland.

Lefty Fritz Ostermueller pitched a steady game against Philadelphia Phillies while his

In A division two matches remain to be played with Searles-Jones billed for games with J. Gervin and F. Stratholt. Searles-Jones is in fourth place, a point behind third-place N. R. Stewart, and if he can post victories in both of his impending matches he can move up into third spot.

WINDSOR—Victory parade of the Victoria Dominos continues. Thursday night the British Columbia champions humbled Assumption College, eastern titleholders, 51 to 37 for their second straight victory in the best-of-five Canadian senior men's basketball final.

The story last night was again just too much power. Dominos were in command from the first minute when Norm Baker was fouled heavily underneath the Windsor basket and stepped up to drop both foul shots cleanly through the hoop. From this point on in the first quarter it was just a procession of foul shots for the Windsor team.

It seemed that if a Domino player looked sideways at an Assumption opponent the referees blew for a foul. The Victoria boys took it in their stride and did not get upset, which was a big factor in their victory. They just said to themselves okay for every time they lost the ball and roared right back to regain possession.

To pick a star on the Domino club last night would be impossible but Baker looked awfully good around the hoop and was simply dynamite on the foul shots scoring eight out of nine attempts. He finished with a total of 18 points.

Savran looked best for Windsor although outscored by Mudry and Thomas. Windsor scoring average was not nearly as good as Dominos although they had many more attempts.

Chuck Chapman and Porky Andrews dropped in some beautiful long shots and checked in their usual effective playoff style.

Busher Jackson was a tower of strength defensively during the game as he left the shooting assignment to others. He played a great game although only making the one hoop.

Big Hank Rowe was a standout on the offensive backboard and grabbed himself a perfect average on fouls three for three. He pushed up nine points and looked good all the way.

Smooth ball-handling Spud McKeachie put in a stretch last night and looked good as he picked off many defensive rebounds and set up some nice scoring plays.

Rooters George Strath and Alan Wright are veterans now. Going into a Canadian final is just like old stuff to them now as they walk into a game with lots of confidence and make less mistakes each time out. In fact Dominos have a nine man ball club which has been handled extremely well by a young good natured heady manager in the person of Joe Bryant.

Dominos will be out there on the Kennedy Gymnasium floor Saturday confident but not overly so.

Teams and scores follow:
Dominos—Baker 18, Jackson 3, A. Chapman 4, C. Chapman 6, Andrews 11, Rowe 9, Strath, Wright, McKeachie.

Windsor—Thomas 9, Sovran 8, Rorat 3, Wade, White 2, Mudry 11, Lipsky 2, Tolmie 2.

Victoria West Bowlers Open Season Tomorrow

Victoria West Lawn Bowling Club will hold its official opening tomorrow afternoon at 2. Visitors and others interested are invited to attend. Sunday, May 19, club bowlers journey to Nanaimo to play a home-and-home series. Members are asked to contact Jimmy Kenmuir in this connection as soon as possible.

Hypericum Wins 1,000 Guineas

NEWMARKET, Eng. (Reuter)—Hypericum today won the One Thousand Guineas, open to three-year-old fillies. Neolight came second, with Iona third of 13 runners in this second classic race of the flat-racing season.

West's to Battle Toppers' Eleven In Cup Football

Toppers vs. Victoria West. That is the soccer attraction at Macdonald Park tomorrow afternoon and the teams will be gunning for a finals spot in the lower island playoffs of the Province Cup series. Game starts at 2:30.

Canadian Legion gained the final last Saturday when they took the measure of Oak Bay, 3 to 0, and the winner in tomorrow's engagement will have the veterans' club representatives as their opposition to determine the lower island's No. 1 team. Winner meets Nanaimo in the island final.

Toppers and Wests, as proven by their 1946 winnings of silverware, are the two closest matched units in the Victoria and District Football League and a good, hard match is predicted.

Wests' line-up will be the same as usual, except for one position change. This swings Gordy Bell back to his original right wing spot to join up with Murray Speller. Gordie Cooper will handle the central forward job and will be flanked on the left by Noel Morgan and Ab Travis.

"Red" McMillan, Chuck Restell and Cliff Robbins will form the halfback line. Bobby Bell and Alan Reside will be the defenders in front of the goal, which will be guarded by Joe Travis.

Cafemen will be the same as those stripped for the team's last action. The goal chores will be handled by Wally Rowe, and in front of him will be Art Searle and Ken Druce. The centre line personnel will be Ronnie Webster, Darrell Popham and Dick Donaghy. Tom Druce is slated for action as centre forward, but if Art Young is available, Druce will play a fullback role in place of Searle. On the right wing will be Shubrook and Jenkins; Nip Sage and Harry Barber will work the left flank.

Start Preparing Willows Building for Boxla Play

In various parts of the city these days the lads who make up the teams of the 1946 edition of the Victoria Box Lacrosse Association are preparing themselves for another season of rugged warfare on the boards.

"Well, we haven't got the absolute 'green light' to go ahead with our arrangements at the Willows but we are going out tonight to start getting the Main Building into shape with hammer, nail and saw and other building tools for the opening of the season," said Ed Popham.

The building requires a considerable amount of work to make it shipshape for boxla action. Chief construction work is a wire-enclosed box and seating arrangements. The players and officials of the working party will continue their efforts tomorrow afternoon and then again a week Sunday. By that time they hope to have the majority of the work completed.

The association would greatly appreciate any offer of help in the carpentering work by players or interested persons in the city. President Doug Fletcher can be contacted by telephoning Colquitz 75 G and Popham at G 5787.

OPENING DATE

Arrangements have been made to launch the new season on May 24. Games during the season include matches here and up-island at Nanaimo.

Team workouts are being held regularly and such well-known names in the sport as Alerts, Jokers, Foul-Bay and Murdies are among the teams entered for action in the senior department. The Canadian Legion central sports committee, which is entering squads in practically every sport that is going these days, has a senior entry lined up for the new season.

So far there are only two entries in the junior division, with the possibility of a third. Owl Drug and Murdies are in now. There will also be juvenile and midge leagues, with Jokers and Canadian Legion entered in the older age group to date.

Victoria Enters Safety Drive

As part of a joint Canada-U.S. traffic safety campaign starting May 15 and continuing until June 30, provincial, city and municipal police will carry out extensive checking of cars to ensure that brakes, lights, tires, wind shield wipers and horns are in good condition.

The campaign, sponsored by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, is designed to help reduce the number of traffic accidents which have increased sharply since the end of gasoline rationing last year.

Motorists will be asked to co-operate by having their cars checked voluntarily. Drivers who know already that they are driving defective cars are urged not to take a chance in driving until repairs have been made.

Also during the program motorists will be urged to improve their driving and to pledge themselves to take every possible driving precaution at all times.

The checking will be similar to that which the city police carried out for several weeks two months ago. They stopped cars on busy streets and made tests of brakes and lights.

In connection with the safety campaign, the city police has placed a picture and chart display in a window of Cunningham's Drug Store at Yates and Douglas. Other displays will be made.

Building Shortage Solved Before Food

Belief that the building material shortage might be solved quite soon, but that the food shortage would take longer to overcome than anything else, was expressed by D. G. Mackenzie, Ottawa, former chief industrial agent, industrial division, War-time Prices and Trade Board, in Victoria Wednesday.

Surplus of ready money, labor troubles and reconversion of both men and machines are among the complex factors resulting in today's shortages of many commodities, Mr. Mackenzie said. "People have a good deal of money to spend, and there is an unprecedented demand for everything," he said. "However, I don't think the situation is nearly as serious as they would have us believe."

Mr. Mackenzie said that civilian requirements were made to seem much larger than they really were, since customers went from store to store seeking certain commodities, with each retailer the customer visits, putting in an order for the commodity sought. Mr. Mackenzie, who heads his own firm of consulting engineers, will spend a holiday on his Salt Spring Island farm.

Heart Disease Still Heads Death List

Heart diseases continue to lead the list as a cause of death in Victoria, according to the annual report of the medical health officer, submitted by Dr. Richard Felton to the city council.

Of the 1,155 deaths occurring in Victoria in 1945, 458 were from heart disease. Cancer and malignant tumors came second with 208 deaths, and cerebral hemorrhage third with 104 deaths.

Tuberculosis caused 38 deaths, and diabetes 19. During the year there were two murders, five suicides, five deaths by motor accidents, and 34 "other violent or accidental deaths." In only three cases was the cause of death not specified or ill defined.

To Hear Veteran Of Yugoslavia Warfare

Maj. W. M. "Bill" Jones, D.C.M. and bar, will be the guest speaker at a joint luncheon of the Canadian Club and Kiwanis Club next Tuesday at 12.15 in the Empress Hotel. Maj. Jones is making a series of appearances before the Institute of International Affairs throughout Canada.

He is said to be a dynamic speaker "with an amazing story about Yugoslavia at war and experiences in Balkan guerilla warfare." He was parachuted into Croatia and served as liaison officer between Tito and the British War Office.

Job seekers, looking for a fortune in Canada's northland and tourists, out for their first post-war joy ride, will have difficulty finding boat accommodation to Alaska and the Yukon.

$50,000 Renovation Plan For City Hall Considered

The merits of having a new City Hall which might cost from $300,000 to $1,000,000 or fixing up the present building at an estimated cost of $50,000 are being argued in the efficiency survey committee, under the chairmanship of Ald. H. M. Dig- gons, with members of the City Hall staff and the aldermen lining up on either side.

Those most in favor of the renovation scheme are strongly opposed to putting the city any further in debt, even on a "baby bond" scheme of financing.

Talk of erection of a new City Hall goes back as far as 1911 when at a meeting presided over by Mayor A. J. Morley, the need for a new hall to replace the present "outmoded structure" was stressed.

Some of the alternate plans being considered for renovation of the old building include extending the assessor's office back into the courtyard which is now used as a parking space for cars of the engineer's department.

Into these new offices would be moved the comptroller's office, now on the second floor, and the purchasing agent's office which is by the Pandora Street entrance.

This would make it possible to enlarge the engineer's office into the comptroller's present quarters, and make an alderman's room out of the present purchasing agent's office.

Another suggestion is that an elevator be installed, and the third floor finished off to make proper offices up there. At the present time the third floor is used as a drafting room for the engineer's department and for storage of old records.

In order to make the third-floor quarters adequate it might be necessary to lower the ceilings on the second floor which would be a costly and difficult job.

World Air Service Foreseen By T.C.A. Representative

Predictions of a global service with all airlines operating on a standard basis were made by D. R. MacLaren, T.C.A., Winnipeg director of passenger service, speaking at the Empress Hotel today to the Pacific Northwest Trade Association conference.

Mr. MacLaren said that within a short time it was hoped to have 40-passenger, four-engine planes on Canadian international routes. Speeds in the next five years would be between 350 and 550 miles an hour.

He believed that science would advance even faster in the next five years than in the last five with all new knowledge going to the benefit of the people.

NEED AIRPORT NEAR CITY
Seaplanes, he said, would not be used on the Victoria-Seattle run, which was now being approved for T.C.A. He considered that Patricia Bay was too far away from Victoria for an airport.

"You in Victoria," he said, "need an airport closer to the city. That is up to Victoria."

Mr. MacLaren told how efforts were being made to make inter-country travel less trouble with regard to customs and immigration.

"We are interested," he said, "in seeing the private flier able to enter Canada from the United States without as much trouble as exists today."

E. G. Rowbottom, deputy minister of trade and industry, told the meeting that it was hoped to classify British Columbia tourist resorts soon.

The province during the last two years, he said, had been attempting "to put its house in order" regarding tourist matters. He noted that the Legislature had passed an act last year regulating tourist camps.

Mr. Rowbottom considered that during the next year there would be sufficient labor and material to bring B.C. resorts "into top form."

Estimated value of the tourist industry for 1946 was $50,000,000 for B.C., compared with $30,000,000 in 1939.

School Board To Take Census Of Children in Area

A census of potential school population will be taken in the Greater Victoria school district by the Union School Board this month, J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools, announced today.

The purpose of the census, which will cover all children over one year of age, is to find out how many youngsters there are in each age group and where they live in relation to present elementary schools.

The census-taking should be completed by the end of the month so that the board can arrive at school boundaries before the end of June.

Co-operation Asked In Checking Thefts

Co-operation of householders in checking petty thefts and burglaries was requested by Police Chief John A. McLellan today.

"Many householders invite burglars to rob them," he said. "One form of invitation is the notice on the door—'Out, back at 12:30'—and another is the time-honored hiding place for keys and valuables so well known to the criminal fraternity who never forget to look in the old teapot or handbag for money hidden away."

Erroneous Statement On Return of Auto

In Wednesday's Times, in reporting the order of Mr. Justice A. D. MacFarlane returning to Loran MacFarlane and George Kelman a car seized by Victoria city police Nov. 15, 1945, it was stated that "Kelman was convicted by Magistrate Henry Hall of selling beer while in charge of the car."

Mr. Kelman was not in charge of the car and was not convicted on a charge of selling beer. The driver of the car at the time was convicted.

The Times regrets any embarrassment this erroneous statement may have caused Mr. Kelman.

Juveniles Blamed In Theft of Four Brentwood Boats

A widespread search by provincial and Saanich police is being conducted for two juveniles believed to have been responsible for the theft of four motor boats from Brentwood Bay and a number of other articles, including four chickens, in the last few days.

The boats were recovered as well as two stolen rifles. The rifles were found in a 14-foot motor boat belonging to Sam Whittaker of Brentwood Bay, stolen Thursday morning and recovered by B.C. policemen from Duncan at Cowichan Bay Thursday night. A pair of oars and the water pump had been stolen from the Whittaker boat.

On Wednesday Ken Bodington of Brentwood discovered the theft of his 20-foot motor launch which he later found in a damaged condition tied up at Coal Bay, off Sidney. Also stolen from Bodington the same day were four chickens which were to have been delivered to a downtown store.

Bodington also lost a rowboat as did Hugh Francis. They were found later at Brentwood.

Few Meat Shops To Open Monday

Better than few Victoria meat markets would have sufficient supplies to reopen their shops Monday, was expressed today by Reginald Williams, president of the Vancouver Island Meat Retailers' Association.

While a number were closed today and did not expect to open tomorrow, representatives of meat packinghouses said they were expecting no meat next week.

Wholesalers and retailers predicted next week would see a greater meat shortage than in the past two weeks. Spokesman for one packinghouse said he thought consumers would get the minimum of meat supplies.

"I do not think there will be sufficient meat to keep butcher shops open all next week," he said.

"The situation looks bad. We have nothing from Vancouver and no signs of any meat from Edmonton," spokesman for another packinghouse said.

Kinsmen See Film

Clarence Ferris of the Provincial Travel Bureau's film branch, presented a technicolor travelogue, depicting life and industry along the scenic Cariboo Highway, at a meeting of the Kinsmen Club in Empress Hotel, Thursday night.

The film dealt mainly with the mining and fishing industries but showed many tourist attractions and presented candid shots of the principal towns and villages along the route.

A 17-year-old boy was among five persons charged in city police court today with being intoxicated in a public place. As soon as the boy told Magistrate H. C. Hall his age, the charge was transferred to juvenile court. The other four each were fined $25 or five days.

$15,000 Hospital Addition

Work on an addition to St. Joseph's Hospital at Rupert and Humboldt Streets to provide temporary quarters for patients until the new construction can be completed has been started. A building permit was issued today for $15,000 by the city building inspector. Sullivan Construction Co. is listed as the contractor.

A permit was issued for the erection of a Free Methodist church at 1620 Cook Street, costing $12,000. The building will be stucco and F. M. Owen was named architect.

Last Rites Saturday For Dr. H. B. Rogers

One-time medical superintendent at Royal Jubilee Hospital, Dr. Herbert B. Rogers, 686 St. Patrick Street, died Thursday at the Jubilee. Funeral service will be held at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, Saturday afternoon at 1:30.

The late Dr. Rogers who retired 10 years ago, came to British Columbia in 1886 as mail clerk on the first C.P.R. train to Vancouver. A graduate of McGill University, Dr. Rogers was superintendent of Chemalun General Hospital for 30 years, and served overseas with the Canadian Army Medical Corps, between 1914 and 1918. He married Miss Edith Stewart of Buckingham, Ont.

He is survived by his widow and one son, Capt. Harry Stewart Rogers, now in England. Harry Rogers has charge of funeral arrangements.

Rat Bites Woman

An animal which she said was a rat bit a city woman on the ankle while she was getting into her car in the 1400 block of Monterey Avenue and inflicted a wound which required eight stitches, according to Oak Bay police.

Police and other Oak Bay officials said the case was most unusual.

CHEAP LUMBER

Cut lumber at less than the price of wood. This lumber cannot be sold commercially at the sawmill because of being offsize, too much bark, splits, checks or stick streaks, but hundreds of loads are being sold and pieces picked out to repair barns, sidewalks, fences, build chicken runs, rabbit runs, bridges and filler in buildings, and garden stakes. Even if all this lumber were cut into wood it would be cheap inside wood and a load will make about 1 1/2 cords. Especially handy for people who live outside of town and find it hard to get good wood. This lumber is in 1, 2, 3 and 4-inch boards and planks, and timbers up to 20 feet long.

MAISIE HAS A NEW JOB and a new boy friend in "Up Goes Maisie," which brings Ann Sothern and George Murphy to the Dominion screen this week in the latest adventures of that Brooklyn blonde. George is Maisie's new love, and her new job is that of piloting a helicopter!

Helicopter Flight In 'Up Goes Maisie'

A diploma from a secretarial school starts Maisie off on a new adventure in "Up Goes Maisie," starring Ann Sothern on the Dominion screen.

In the new comedy the world's favorite Brooklyn blonde discovers that a secretarial course can lead to almost anything, including a flight in a helicopter. George Murphy appears as leading man, with the supporting cast, including such favorites as Hillary Brooke, Murray Alper, Lewis Howard, Paul Harvey and John Eldredge.

"Up Goes Maisie," an original story by Thelma Watson, is set against a background of famous Los Angeles scenes. Maisie, who gives up the aircraft industry to become a secretary, finds herself back again in riveting garb to help her boss construct a helicopter he has designed.

YORK THEATRE
Blending the humor and philosophical qualities of Will Rogers with a rich baritone singing voice, Tex Ritter, America's foremost singer of folk songs, is now in the York Theatre for a personal appearance with his Western and Hillbilly Jamboree, starting today. By reputation and through his outstanding Capitol records, he remains America's leading singer of Western and hillbilly folk songs. On his current tour Ritter is introducing in person for the first time his famous screen horse, White Flash, who has appeared with the cowboy actor in more than 50 Western films.

CAPITOL THEATRE
Despite the fact that Paulette Goddard is noted for beauty of face and form, she is constantly sacrificing glamour for drama. It seems La Goddard is not content to heap all her movie laurels on a shapely leg or a well-turned ankle. Something more solid, if less ornamental is desired. She wants to be, above everything else, an actress, even if it means wearing the grimy, torn overalls of "So Proudly We Hail," or the welder outfit in "I Love a Soldier" or the battered, sweater and trouser of "Reap the Wild Wind." Now, in her latest opus, Paramount's Mitchell Leisen production, "Kitty," currently at the Capitol Theatre, Paulette has an opportunity to act to the hilt in rags and look ravishingly beautiful in some of the most magnificent costumes ever designed. For "Kitty" is a gleeful comedy of contrasts. It is the story of 18th Century London, of the illiterate Cockney wail whom Sir Thomas Gainsborough made the toast of royalty with a masterful stroke of the brush.

Back Queen Entry

Esquimalt High School students having selected Evelyn Dabinett as their own candidate for May Queen will put forth an extra effort Saturday on behalf of their candidate as that will be her 18th birthday. Residents of Esquimalt and visitors will be asked to support the students' candidate for the honor of representing Greater Victoria in the May 24 celebrations. Evelyn is in Grade XII at Esquimalt High, a lieutenant in the girl cadets, and secretary of the Students' Council.

Chilling Mystery Opens at Atlas

Hailed as one of the most exciting film thrillers of the year, Rene Clair's "And Then There Were None," the spine-chilling picturization of Agatha Christie's world-famous masterpiece of mystery, opens today at the Atlas Theatre with a brilliant cast headed by Academy Award-winner Barry Fitzgerald, Walter Huston and Louis Hayward.

With a bleak, terror-ridden mystery island as its setting, the picture tells the story of 10 men and women whose pasts are a secret to all except the unknown host who invited them to the island on a week-end party.

How, one by one, they meet violent death at the hands of their unseen host (who plots his murders according to the plan of an old nursery rhyme) until two are left—a boy and a girl in love, neither of whom can be sure that the other isn't the actual murderer, is said to make for electrifying suspense that builds up to the most thrilling climax of the year.

'Emperor Jones' Coming to York

To the ominous throb of the tomtoms, Eugene O'Neill's first great drama, "Emperor Jones," dealing with Harlem love intrigues and voodoo-infested Haiti, is once again available to theatregoers.

This time it is a talking picture, produced by John Krimsky and Gifford Cochran, the importers of "Girls in Uniform," and released by Screenplay Pictures, is coming to the York Theatre on Monday.

Hollywood Column

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—William Powell thinks he has finally escaped the Thin Man—temporarily at least.

Since the first of the film series in 1934, Powell has been more or less typed as the private detective, Nick Charles. "The trouble is," Powell told me, "that plots become more and more difficult to contact as the series goes on, particularly when you have to work a murder around a man, woman and their dog."

"The studio knows it has sure 'box office' in series like the 'Thin Man,' 'Maisie' and 'Andy Hardy,' but making them is hard on Myrna, Anne Sothern, Mickey Rooney and me because it's hard to avoid being typed."

Powell's search for an escape hatch began five years ago when he heard about Clarence Day's play "Life With Father." He urged M-G-M to buy it, but the studio wouldn't go for the percentage deal the owners demanded. When Warners finally bought the play, every star past 30 was considered for the father Day role. After six months of finagling Bill was named father. His next picture? Something called "Song of the Thin Man." It might be the swan song.

Hollywood is plunking all-out for lend-lease from Sweden as long as it involves actresses. So far the film capital of the United States has been gifted with Greta Garbo, Ingrid Bergman and Signe Hasso. Now comes Viveca Lindfors. From observation, it would appear she has all that her predecessors possessed, and a bit more.

She possesses natural beauty, can handle the English language plished dancer. She will go to work soon for Warner Brothers, fairly well and is also an accom-
